Birmingham Law Student competing in Miss England

Aspiring legal professional Amanda Dalani, 18, from Birmingham, has been selected as a Semi-Finalist in the prestigious Miss England 2026 competition. Amanda Hopes to be the first woman of Albanian heritage to represent the country at Miss World .

Grace Richardson a performing arts student from Leicester is competing in the 75th Miss World festival taking place in Vietnam in August - September 6th.

Sponsored by Wills Aesthetics, Elspeth will be taking part in the semi final at the Melton Theatre Melton Mowbray Leicestershire on Sunday 11th October where the Miss England national finalists will be chosen .

Currently studying Law, Amanda combines academic ambition with a passion for personal development and cultural awareness. Standing at 1.70 metres tall, she is proud to be from Birmingham. One of Amanda's most distinctive qualities is her passion for languages and communication. She is bilingual and is currently learning a third language, demonstrating her commitment to broadening her horizons and connecting with people from diverse backgrounds. Amanda views the Miss England competition as an opportunity to inspire other young women to pursue their goals with confidence, determination, and authenticity. As she progresses through the competition, she hopes to use her platform to promote education, personal growth, and the importance of embracing multicultural experiences.

"I'm honoured to be selected as a Miss England 2026 Semi-Finalist," said Amanda. "This opportunity allows me to represent my community while showcasing the values of hard work, ambition, and self-belief. I am excited for the journey ahead and look forward to meeting and learning from the incredible women taking part in this year's competition."

The Miss England competition celebrates intelligence, achievement, confidence, and community involvement, providing contestants with opportunities to make a positive impact while developing valuable life skills.

As Amanda continues her journey toward the Miss England 2026 crown, she remains focused on her legal studies and committed to being a positive role model for young people across the United Kingdom.
