

Miss England®

Mackenzie Louise Porter Wins Publicity Queen Award at Miss England Semi-Final 2026 promoting women in Golf !

Northern Ireland-born model and University of Southampton student secures a prestigious award at Melton Theatre and prepares for the Miss England National Final in Leicester.

Melton, Leicestershire – 21-year-old Mackenzie Louise Porter has been awarded the coveted Publicity Queen title at the Miss England Semi-Final 2026, held at Melton Theatre by promoting the competition with her sponsor <https://www.paultonsgolf.co.uk/> .

The achievement marks an exciting milestone for Mackenzie, who will now compete at the Miss England National Final on 17 November 2026 at Athena in Leicester.

Standing at an impressive 5ft 11in, Mackenzie is a model and marketing student at the University of Southampton, combining her passion for the fashion industry with a strong interest in public speaking, communication and representing her generation. Recently , Mackenzie was invited to attend Paris Fashion week by the Miss England office who spotted her high fashion modelling potential.

Originally from Northern Ireland, Mackenzie has a particularly inspiring story. An avid public speaker, she has spoken at the Stormont Parliament Buildings about the progress made as a nation, demonstrating her confidence in addressing audiences and her passion for sharing meaningful messages.

Having moved to England to pursue her ambitions, Mackenzie is working towards a marketing degree while continuing to develop her modelling career. Her success in winning the Publicity Queen award highlights her enthusiasm for publicity, communication and promoting her journey throughout the Miss England competition.

Speaking about her background and ambitions, Mackenzie said:

"I'm an avid public speaker, originally from Northern Ireland, and have even spoken in the Stormont Parliament Buildings on the progress we have made as a nation. I moved to England to pursue my dreams of achieving a marketing degree, whilst modelling!"

The Publicity Queen award recognises Mackenzie's achievements in raising her profile during the competition and sharing her Miss England journey with a wider audience. Her success reflects the importance of confidence, effective communication and the ability to engage with people beyond the stage.

With the national final fast approaching, Mackenzie will be preparing to represent herself and her journey on one of the country's most recognised beauty pageant stages. The Miss England National Final at Athena, Leicester, on 17 November 2026 will bring together contestants competing for the national crown and the opportunity to progress to the next stage of the pageant journey.

For Mackenzie, the experience represents more than modelling. It is an opportunity to combine her academic ambitions, public speaking experience and passion for communication while embracing new challenges and inspiring others to pursue their own goals.

Her win at Melton Theatre is a significant achievement, and all eyes will now be on Leicester as she prepares to take her place at the Miss England National Final.

To vote for Mackenzie to win the peoples choice public vote which would fast track her in to the Miss England national final 12 visit <https://missengland.1voting.com/>

ENDS

For more information contact press@missengland.info